While no one understands precisely what brand new technology will make jaws drop this year the way the iPhone did year that is last, one spot to get a good suggestion was at the Consumer Electronics Show (CES) in Las Vegas.

Sponsored by the Consumer Electronics Association, the 41st annual CES was held at the Las Vegas Convention Center and also the Sands Expo and Convention Center. The show has become a little bit of a juggernaut in the electronic devices business - it is the largest tech trade show in the United States, with more than 2,700 exhibitors as well as attendance of approximately 140,000 people. Many companies (small and click here - look at this website - large) use the CES to review new products, make announcements and create buzz. In the previous forty years, the show has seen the debut of the VCR (1970), CD player (1981), HDTV (1998), Xbox (2001) and Blu-Ray (2003).
